Contractor Tried Ballot Blackmail, Witness Declares

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Paul A. Olson, former secretary to Representative Coffee, D., Wash., told the senate war investigating committee today that Elvind Anderson, Tacoma contractor, attempted to "blackmail" him into withdrawing last January as a candidate for mayor of Tacoma.

Olson testified that Anderson told him that unless he withdrew from the primary race in which the contractor was also entered, Anderson "would use the check to injure me in some way in the March election."

The witness' reference was to a $2,500 check which Anderson gave to Olson in 1941 while the latter was serving as Coffee's secretary.

Anderson has testified that the check was in payment for services he expected to receive from Coffee and Olson in connection with a defense contract. Coffee told the committee yesterday he received the money as a "campaign gift."

Called to Home

Olson said today that Anderson called him to his home last Jan. 19 or 20 "ostensibly for the purpose of obtaining further aid" relative to payments which Anderson believed were due him from the war department on a hospital construction contract.

Anderson, Olson testified, then told about the conversation around to the check issued five years previously and asked Olson to withdraw from the race. Leaving the contractor as the only candidate with a Scandinavian name in a community of voters predominantly of Scandinavian descent.

"He attempted to blackmail me into withdrawing from the mayor's race," Olson declared.

Refused to Withdraw

He added that he declined to withdraw, telling Anderson that "there was nothing wrong" about the payment and "if you want to use it go ahead and shoot the works."

Anderson, Olson said, did not make the transaction public until about a week after the primary election and a week preceding the run-off. Anderson was eliminated in the primary, running last, the witness said, while Olson lost out in the final to C. V. Fawcett.

The story of the payment, Olson continued, was given to the press and radio in a statement by retiring Mayor Harry P. Cain. Olson identified Cain as the present Washington Republican nominee for the senate.

Cain based his statement, the witness said, on an affidavit by Anderson.

The contrary stories of Coffee and Anderson were already in the committee record.

Brief, Savage Gale Damages Pea Crop; Lightning Kills Dairy Herd

Magic Valley residents are busy today clearing away debris in the wake of their battle with the elements of high wind and lightning Tuesday.

Uprooted trees, damaged crops and utility lines and dead cattle were left by the brief but savage storm.

One of the most dramatic phases of the 48-mile gale and accompanying electrical disturbance occurred at the Jake Pope home, 1202 Sixth avenue east, where two of five large cottonwoods crashed to earth within inches of the residence.

First of the towering trees went down at 3:30 p. m., according to an electrical clock in the Pope residence, which stopped when the tree severed electrical lines. This tree clipped off shingles and a rain trough at the rear corner of the house, and it was necessary for Pope, a former brand inspector and now a horse dealer, to "chop his way" into the house. None of the family was home when the first tree fell.

Second of the two trees started to lean precariously toward the east and appeared to be ready to descend on the house, which it would have crushed "like paper," according to Pope. Under direction of City Safety Commissioner W. W. Thomas, a large semi-trailer winch-equipped army retriever of Hoops Construction company was engaged to pull the tree's bole away from falling on the home. Although at first the tremendous weight of the tree dragged the heavy equipment, the efforts were finally successful and the tree missed the house by about two feet.

Huge excavations were left where the trees' root formation had been.

Throughout the city, trucks were engaged today in picking up limbs of trees snapped off by the gale.

Extensive damage to light and power and telephone lines occurred throughout a wide area. Kimberly

Molotov Asks End Of Franco Regime As Peace Message

PARIS, July 31 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, in a speech to the Paris peace conference today, called upon "democratic countries" of the world to put an end to the Franco regime of Spain.

"It is impossible to safeguard peace," said Molotov, "unless fascism is destroyed."

The Soviet foreign minister spoke after an appearance before the conference rules committee at which he fought to establish a two-thirds majority voting rule for the conference of 21 nations, because, he said, "if all decisions were by simple majority the USSR would be sure to find itself always in the minority."

He found qualified support in his fight in U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes, who, an American informant said, will propose tomorrow that a two-thirds majority vote be necessary for approval of essential and substantive matters.

Addressing the conference, called to confer on the peace that is to be written in Europe with Italy, Roumania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Finland, Molotov said:

"If we have still to deal with the question of the fascist regime in Spain, then the time must not be too distant when democratic countries will be able to help the Spanish people who groan under Franco's regime to put an end to this survival bred by Hitler and Mussolini which is dangerous to the cause of peace."

Sees Vote Block

Making his first public official conference pronouncement, the Soviet foreign minister told a meeting of the rules committee, "this (a simple majority) naturally would place the Anglo-Saxons at an advantage because it would form a block of from 12 to 13 votes."

He expressed fear that adoption of a simple majority rule would play the west against eastern Europe.

"The conference should be interested in preventing a play on votes and should be concerned with assuring the authority of the recommendations it is going to make, and not in attempting to set off 12 countries against seven or eight countries," he said.

Reporters Attend

Newspaper reporters of many countries, sitting in for the first time in history at a peace conference observers, were in attendance as the committee plunged quickly into the troublesome question on which Molotov voiced his support of a Yugoslav proposal for a two-thirds [illegible] Secretary of State Byrnes [illegible] conference yesterday, also was supporting draft [illegible] proposals prepared by the four foreign ministers of Russia, the United States, Britain and France, but that if two-thirds of the 21-nation conference disagreed with the four-power decision he would support the conference's recommendations for revision.

Russians Get Most Benefit Out of Pacts

PARIS, July 31 (AP) — Russia emerged today as the principal beneficiary of proposed peace treaties which would strip Italy, Finland and beaten Germany's Balkan satellites of their military power, redraw their frontiers and charge them at least a billion dollars in reparations.

The treaty drafts presented to the 21-nation peace conference last night by the big four agreed upon substantial territorial increases for the Soviet Union, payment of $900,000,000 in reparations to Russia and left Russia's domination of eastern Europe intact.

May Cut Gains

In certain disputed sections of the treaty drafts, however, it seemed apparent that the western powers intend to try to whittle down some of the Russian gains in the east, at least in economic matters.

The United States and Britain want the vital Danube river opened to trade on a basis of complete equality, while Russia wants nothing said in any of the treaties about freedom of navigation on the Danube.

The three western members of the big four also want "most favored nation" status for all allied nations in commercial dealings with the five defeated nations, while Russia would extend all necessary aid to private enterprise [illegible] make exceptions for neighboring states.

No Planes, Subs

Under the proposed treaties—which would end the state of war in Europe except for Germany and Austria—Italy and the five nations concerned an opportunity to enter the United Nations—none of the defeated countries would be allowed any bombing planes or submarines and would be required to guarantee fundamental human rights and to bar fascist activity.

The military machines of all would be reduced to a vestige of power, and the treaty drafts directed that both countries agree to cooperate for the purpose of insuring against any German rearmament in the future. The atom bomb was not mentioned in the treaty drafts, but rocket bombs would be outlawed.

Recess-Bound Solons Leave Favor[illegible]

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—Vacation-bound congressmen, shouldering three administration bills to provide American military collaboration with foreign nations, left it seems certain they will go on the legislative scrap heap—for this year at least.

The three bills would:

1. Allow the United States to train, arm and equip China's military forces. Since Mme. Sun Yat-sen charged that American arms are fostering civil strife in China, there is no chance this measure will pass at this session.

2. Permit the United States to train and equip armed force of Latin-American nations. A sudden whirlwind of objections blew up over this measure on grounds it would set up a military bloc in contravention of the spirit of the United Nations. It, too, is dead for the present.

3. Continue the President's war-time power to send military and naval missions to advise the governments of any country in the world at the request of and in the interests of national defense.

The house already has passed this third bill but Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., Ohio, objected to its consideration in the senate Monday. He said the U. S. should operate through the United Nations. There seems little likelihood that this measure can be pushed through over Taft's objections.

Soldiers Hit By Illness on Troop Vessel

NEW YORK, July 31 (AP)—One soldier has died of laryngeal diphtheria aboard the troop transport Colby Victory en route to Bremerhaven, and other troops are ill and show the same symptoms, and diphtheria anti-toxin and toxoid are being rushed by air to the ship 500 to 600 miles off the coast of Newfoundland.

The coast guard, flying a relay of mercy planes, the war and the army port surgeon had received a message from the ship's doctor at 10 p. m. last night which said:

"Urgent. Death of soldier. Strongly indicative of diphtheria. Autopsy being performed. Report of death to follow completion of autopsy. Other patients showing similar symptoms."

Police reported that a further message received by the port surgeon at 5 a. m. said "Patients showing further symptoms."

The surgeon's office said, however, that a definite diagnosis of diphtheria had not been made.

Son of Judge Hurt As Two Autos Crash

GOODING, July 31 — T. Bailey Lee, jr., Boise rancher, suffered a sprained back and was knocked unconscious in an automobile collision Tuesday afternoon on state highway 25 two miles east of Wendell.

Lee is the son of District Judge T. Bailey Lee, Burley.

He was riding in a sedan driven by R. R. (Don) Boucher, Fairfield rancher, who was en route to an appointment in Twin Falls. As Boucher's car rounded a curve, he swung in front of an oil truck driven by Frank E. Hampton, Jerome, which was heading for Jerome, according to Sheriff Fred S. Craig, investigating officer, Gooding.

Both vehicles were thrown into the ditch on the north side of the road and ended up both facing west.

A passing motorist took the injured Lee to St. Valentine's hospital in Wendell. He was reported in good condition by the attending physician today.

Damage to each car will approximate $250, Sheriff Craig declared. No charges will be filed against either driver. The roadway at the point where the accident happened was slippery, Craig asserted.

Ku Klux Klan Probe Covers Seven States

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP)—The justice department disclosed today that it is investigating Ku Klux Klan activities in seven states to determine whether federal laws are being violated.

The department said court action will be instituted against the Klan if such violations are uncovered.

Evidence involving any violations of state laws will be turned over to state authorities, if requested.

Under Civil Rights

The investigation is being made under the direction of the department's civil rights section in New York, Michigan, Tennessee, Florida, California, Mississippi and Georgia. However, complaints are being received from all parts of the country about the resurgent Klan's activities. The originators include individuals, labor unions, civil rights societies and other organizations.

Some name dates, places and persons involved in alleged Klan acts. All such complaints are turned over to the FBI which makes investigations for the civil rights section.

Increase Expected

The department expects a sharp increase in Klan activity as a result of Negro voting in southern primaries, the dislocation of populations resulting from the war, congested living conditions and the other aftermaths of war.

The department began checking Klan activities shortly before Attorney General Tom Clark assailed the hooded order in a speech at Philadelphia on May 15.

At that time, Clark said "we must rid ourselves of such things as organized violence—and I mean specifically such an excrescence as the Ku Klux Klan."

Soldiers Escape Montana Prison

Lavenson said authorities throughout the northwest and in the hometowns of the fugitives had been notified of the escape.

Solons Clash

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Clashing house and senate views over a side issue posed the threat today that social security payroll taxes might be allowed to jump to two and one-half per cent Jan. 1.

Both branches of congress have voted to freeze the present one per cent levy for another year.

Lashing Hail Rakes Elmore Valley Sector

GLENNS FERRY, July 31—A hail storm which flashed through Pasadena valley Tuesday afternoon resulted in heavy but unestimated damage to the nearly ripe melons, cantaloupes, onions, beans and forage crops. Crops across the Snake river in the King Hill area were also flattened by the devastating wind and hail.

Heaviest loss, according to an early survey today, was that suffered by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, Pasadena valley, whose 12,000 crop of cantaloupes and watermelons was termed practically a total loss by the owners.

The wind lashed through the valley in a northeasterly direction, flattening onion crops, standing grain and splitting the bean crops.

Gilbert Grenier, another rancher in the valley, who was out in the storm, reported that the hail, which was as large as marbles, felt like someone was beating him. His back

Federal Jurists Get Pay Boosts

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — President Truman today signed legislation raising the salaries of the nation's 300 federal judges by $3,000 a year.

The raise blankets the federal judiciary, from district judges to the chief justice of the United States.

Thus, Chief Justice Vinson will get $25,500 annually and the associate justices $25,000. Pay of circuit court judges goes up to $17,500, and the 50 district judges to $15,000.

One constitutional effect of the bill is to ban appointment of present members of congress to the federal judiciary until next January, at the earliest.

New Boosts Set for Prices of Clothing

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — Cotton clothing prices headed up still further today as OPA agreed to raise textile ceilings an average of about 16 per cent.

This increase on fabric, the minimum required under the new price control law, is expected to boost cotton garment costs at least 10 per cent, an OPA official told a reporter privately.

Other OPA officials have estimated that clothing increases may range from 15 to 20 per cent, on top of price hikes for some apparel granted earlier this week.

Also in prospect are these other cost-of-living increases:

1. A possible cut of one to two cents a can in price ceilings on corn, peas and tomatoes.

2. A possible cost a loaf hike for bread with proportionate increases for other bakery products.

3. A jump of eight to 10 cents a pound for coffee.

4. Higher ceilings on several kinds of breakfast cereals.

On coffee and the three canned vegetables, preliminary decisions already have been made against restoring the subsidies which were suspended July 1 when price controls lapsed.

Without subsidies, OPA is required to grant compensating price increases to producers and suppliers, who can pass them on to consumers.

No decision has been made on whether to revive the flour subsidy, which had held down retail bread prices one cent a loaf. An OPA official said that if the subsidy is restored, bread ceilings "will not be raised." But an increase is possible, he added, if payments on flour are ruled out.

Meanwhile, OPA has postponed until after Aug. 20 further consideration of whether ceilings should be eliminated on bread and bakery products.

If the new price control board decides at that time that wheat and other grains should remain ceilings, controls on bread and related products may be knocked out, too.

Records or Not, We Still Think July Was Warm

The weather in Twin Falls during July wasn't so hot, records at the bureau of entomology revealed today. The records say so. Can we help it if you don't believe 'em?

Average temperature for the month, not including today, was a mere 74.3 degrees, although the mercury managed to pass that 90-degree mark on 21 days during the month as compared to 26 days in July, 1945. (It'll be 22 days when a 90-plus temperature is recorded today).

High temperature for the month was a warmish 102 degrees recorded July 21. The low temperature was 59 degrees cooler with a chilling 43 on July 16.

And the bureau of entomology reported, "rain" was recorded on seven different days for a total of .15 of an inch precipitation. Only .01 of an inch of moisture was recorded Tuesday.

The average of daily maximum temperature this month was 92.6 degrees as compared with 92.9 degrees for July, 1945. Average of daily minimum temperatures was 56.4 degrees while last July it was 53.9 degrees. The average temperature for July, 1945, was 73.4 degrees.

Bride, 98, Says Tobacco Chewing Good for Health

MATTOON, Ill., July 31—(U.P.)—Luther Wilson, 75, spent his honeymoon mowing lawns today, while his 98-year-old bride of five days sat nearby and watched him.

Mrs. Mary DeWitt Wilson, who married Wilson last Saturday, after a "Sunday afternoon courtship" of three months, bragged that her husband had earned $12 Monday and another $12 yesterday cutting the lawns of Mattoon residents. She said she bet he could earn that much today and again tomorrow.

Mrs. Wilson attributes her own good health to tobacco-chewing which she recommends as a "sure fire" formula

Second Clash Reported for Marine Force

PEIPING, July 31 (AP)—Unofficial reports of a higher death toll and a second clash persisted today even as the Peiping marine garrison headquarters, in the first official announcement, said that three marines were killed and 12 wounded during Monday's fight with 300 armed Chinese.

The unconfirmed reports of the dead varied from four to eight, the wounded toll extended to a score and a reliable source said one marine still was missing.

Comment Withheld

A communist spokesman still declined either to confirm or deny that the attackers were communists but did say communist troops were active in the area, 35 miles southeast of Peiping, where a truck convoy of 100 marine replacements was ambushed.

Informed sources said, however, that the new attackers were communists. These sources explained that in the past when marines clashed with communists the marines' official identity identified the Chinese as communists although they unofficially said so.

Rumors Persist

The marine corps official announcement followed attempts to keep secret all information on the assault. As a result, several unconfirmed reports are circulating in Peiping and Tientsin. One is that the 300 marines sent from Tientsin to the cornfield battle scene to search for missing men had a "running fight" with communists and suffered casualties.

At least three marine patrols have been seen leaving Peiping in the direction of the clash scene. Reports that Sino-American executive headquarters would send a cease-fire team into the area have not been confirmed.

President Orders Palestine Review

WASHINGTON, July 31 (AP) — President Truman today directed the American cabinet committee in London to return to Washington to review the whole Palestine problem at once.

A White House statement said that the President took this step "in view of the complexity of the problem which includes American plans for the immigration of 100,000 Jews into Palestine.

The President, it was said, hopes that further discussions will alleviate the situation of the persecuted Jews in Europe" and contribute to the ultimate solution of the long-term problem of Palestine.

and shoulders were raised in large welts Wednesday morning.

The Grahams expect to salvage possibly $200 or $300 worth of their melon crop. It was estimated by ranchers that one out of a dozen melons might continue to ripen. Picking had just begun Monday on the cantaloupes and farmers were highly pleased with the crop.

A crop of tomatoes owned by Wesley F. Fink, northeast of the Graham ranch, was pounded to shreds by the hail. A loss of big clover and other hay crops was suffered by Karl Anderson, who lives across the valley from these ranches.

Anderson carried insurance on his wheat and oats but the other farmers suffering losses were not insured. All gardens in the area were also badly damaged including those in King Hill.

Damage to the bean crop was estimated at between 30 per cent and a complete loss.

Fungus Hurts Garden Beans

Twin Falls garden varieties of beans are being infested with mosaic and curly top, two fungus diseases, W. G. (Bill) Priest, county club agent, said Wednesday. D. T. (Bert) Bollingbroke, extension agronomist and former Twin Falls county agent, said he was here Monday and Tuesday checking bean fields.

Field beans are still fairly clean and the fungus growth seems to be confined to only garden varieties, Priest said.

"The only effective control is a resistant seed stock and this stock hasn't been built up yet for garden bean varieties," he said.

The mosaic and curly top lower the yield and decrease the vigor of the plant.

End of World Could Happen Just Anytime

By FRANK CAREY

BOSTON, July 31 (AP)—The end of the world could come tomorrow, says Robert S. Coles of New York's Hayden planetarium.

"A nova-like flareup of the sun might happen tomorrow or in 50 or 100 million years," he says. "And if it did the earth and its neighbor planets would almost immediately cease functioning." Coles says that such an outburst of the sun would "undoubtedly mean the end of all life on earth."

A nova is a star that for some reason suddenly flares up to thousands of times its former brilliance. Coles says:

"All evidence, geological and otherwise, points to the conclusion that the sun has been functioning as a very normal star for hundreds of millions of years. But no one can predict that it will continue that trend forever."

If red-hot destruction doesn't appeal to you, Coles has another theory —the earth could freeze up.

This would happen if the sun's radiating energy—believed to be produced by sub-atomic forces deep in the sun's interior—should give out.

Officer, About to Talk Safety, Gets Call to Accident

BUHL, July 31—While preparing to deliver an address on safe driving before the Home Culture club and its guests at a picnic in the Buhl city park, Traffic Officer Hal Cunningham was called away to investigate an accident which had occurred just a few blocks away.

In observance of National Safety Driving week, Cunningham upon his return with fresh evidence, was able to present vividly the "appalling necessity" for motorists to practice arm signals and strict observance of road signs and traffic signals.

Backed Out

Beside the collision which had interrupted the program when Wilford Knight, Buhl, backed his sedan from a curb to collide with a machine driven by George H. Parkins, Twin Falls, inflicting damages of $20 and $25 to the autos, Cunningham was able to list many tragedies and cite other avoidable wrecks within the week.

July 21 Ralph Cammack stopped suddenly and his car was struck in the rear by Anton Zagata's sedan. No one was injured. Damages suffered by Cammack was $35 and by Zagata, $25.

On the same day Roy Jewett turned his coupe left in the 800 block on Broadway, to be struck by Richard Shaffer's Pasadena, Calif., convertible coupe. Riding with Shaffer were Bob Caldwell, San Mateo, and Herman Newman, San Bruno, Calif. With Jewett was L. L. Manon. No one was seriously hurt. Damage to the California auto was $115 and to the coupe, $5.

Averts Crash

July 23 Karl Walter Davis topped the hill one mile north of Lucerne school on highway 30, as Walter Tolman, Bellevue, came onto the pavement from the east. To avoid collision, Davis took to the borrow pit, overturning his sedan which slid 92 feet on its side for an estimated damage of $550 which was covered by insurance.

Armed with this fresh evidence backed by years of personal observation, Cunningham impressed his hearers with the gravity of the situation which hourly confronts traffic officers and instigated "National Safety Driving Week."

Members of the Home Culture club annually entertain their husbands with a picnic in the park.

SHOSHONE, July 30—C. W. The Maine senator is a member of the committee investigating war contracts.

Dill's message reads:

"In your investigation of war contracts, a few of us boys suggest an investigation of the draft boards. We have positive information and proof that the draft board was used for financial gains. Damage Claim Turned Down

A six-man probate court jury deliberated 20 minutes Tuesday afternoon to deny the damage action of Henry Tesseneery, who had sought $350 damages from Henry Richardson as a result of a highway accident. The plaintiff and defendant are Buhl residents.

The jury found in favor of the defendant, and ruled that Richardson recover the costs of the suit. The plaintiff's attorney indicated the decision would be appealed, but no formal notice was given.

Growing out of an automobile accident July 1, 1945, the suit was instituted by Tesseneery on the allegation that Richardson was driving Tesseneery's car when it was demolished in an accident near Buhl.

Ag Courses Again Offered at Filer

FILER, July 31—Vocational agricultural classes will be offered again this year at the Filer high school after a lapse of several years and plans are being made to obtain a large enrollment of farm boys, according to Russ Hall, new instructor.

All boys interested in the vocational agricultural program are urged to contact Hall as soon as possible to get their farming programs arranged before school starts.

To be eligible to participate in the county fair exhibits this fall, it will be necessary for these programs to be in operation, Hall said.

Any farm boy is qualified for the ag school course if he has facilities for a farming program which may consist of crop or livestock enterprises.

Reorganization of the Future Farmers of America club will take place when the classes are begun this fall, the instructor stated.

Classes in general agriculture and livestock production will be offered to all freshmen and sophomore boys and farm shop classes will be given to junior and senior students.

New equipment is being installed in the farm shop at the high school, Hall said. The boys will be trained in woodwork, leather work, sheet metal, blacksmithing, electricity, acetylene welding, electric welding, farm machine repair and tractor mechanics.

CONFLICTING CHINESE POLICIES

Continued American intervention in Chinese affairs and the prolonged presence of our troops in China has moved Mme. Sun Yat-sen to break a two years' political silence and address an appeal to the American people. It is a brave, heartfelt message. It is also confusing, and its underlying motives defy accurate identification.

Mme. Sun, widow of the Chinese republic's founder, is also the sister-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. She is reputedly a woman of strong character and liberal convictions who disagrees strongly with Chiang and his methods. But it is impossible to say how much of this objection is based on idealism, and how much on the Soong family's private quarrels.

Obviously, Mme. Sun has a deep sympathetic understanding of China. That does not mean, however, that she understands America. And when she says that Chinese and American "reactionaries" promote China's civil strife in the hope of starting a war between the United States and Russia, there is good reason for saying "Poppycock!"

Mme. Sun surely is confusing possible result with intention. America's foreign policy is not so confused, stupid or bloodthirsty as to plan such a catastrophe. The men who shape that policy are not so weak or so mad as to permit such a plan to be formulated and carried out under their noses.

Yet our Chinese policy is of enough apparent stupidity and confusion to make Mme. Sun's assumption forgivable. Officially, our efforts are directed toward a united and representative Chinese government. General Marshall has worked heroically for many discouraging months to bring these efforts to a successful conclusion.

At the same time, it is also our official policy to arm, train and support the nationalist army. While we have urged a compromise we have also strengthened Chiang's forces to a point where the Generalissimo now seems to feel himself strong enough for a successful showdown.

Only now is Washington reported to be considering an arms embargo in the hope of averting full-scale civil war in China!

Our armed aid to Chiang was explained as necessary in helping deport the defeated Japanese. When that was accomplished, it was excused on the wartime assumption that Chiang's government was representative and democratic.

But the weight of evidence presented by American writers of all political complexions who have been in China is that the Chiang government has many of the objectionable features of dictatorship, such as repression of personal liberties, liquidation of opposition, and complete identification of the government with the ruling party.

Likewise, the consensus of American writers is that the Chinese communists long since drifted far from the kremlin, and that their program emphasizes free speech, free elections, lower land rents, more ownership of land, and local self-government.

In all this confusion it does seem clear that our present conflicting policy can get both China and us into serious trouble. It can squander the independence of China, which we helped buy at such great cost. And it can further embarrass our relations with Russia, whom we righteously reprove for interference and undue influence in other people's affairs.

ON THE WAY

Speculation on the possibilities of atomic power had a brief life in general conversation. Immediately after the first atomic bomb was dropped there were all sorts of guesses as to when we should have automobiles, airplanes, trains and ships driven by the energy released from a hunk of metal the size of a pea or a lump of coal.

Very shortly afterward, however, it was pointed out that the deadly rays of this released energy would require such a heavy weight of protective metal as to make atomic motive power impractical, at least for personal vehicles. And so almost everybody forgot the whole matter. Almost, but not quite everybody.

For now comes an army air forces announcement that atom-driven planes are at least "practical," and that aircraft manufacturers have been working for several months toward the point where the pronouncement of practicality could be made.

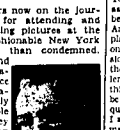

Solution of the problems involved is, of course, barely started. Apparently any atom-powered aircraft envisioned at present would have to be flown by remote control, as affects of the rays would doubtless be fatal. Thus the presently-planned plane would be a military craft—adding to the destructive, frightening uses of atomic power.

But this is only a beginning. With the atomic age less than a year old, one "impossible" task is on the way to being conquered. It lends strength to the notion that in two or three decades man will have changed his life and the world until you wouldn't know the old place. One can only hope that we shall still want to know it.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

PITTED—The high army officers now on the journalistic and photographic spot for attending and posing for compromising, lap-sitting pictures at the $10,000 Garson wedding in a fashionable New York hostelry are more to be pitied than condemned.

The social lobby is an old and accepted establishment at the nation's capital, as it is every place where favors are bought, whether active favors granted, not too wisely but too generously. It is impossible to figure the amount of money which the overburdened American taxpayer has shelled out for these intimacies.

Ray Tucker

Military contractors and their official friends are not the only ones subject to censure and eyebrow-lifting along Main street. The habit of softening and courting government people by gifts liquor for the men, jewelry for their wives, cocktail parties, dinners and pleasant trips is fabulously high in American entertainment during the war because there was more money to be thrown around.

Hospitality was for sale, and the official beneficiaries gave hostages—or contracts—to their hosts.

BABYLONIAN—The harsh but human fact is that almost every corporate group which does business with the federal government, whether it be munitions, industry in general, entertains lavishly even in peacetime.

Until midway through the war the parties and gifts were limited by scarcity of army-navy awards, shipbuilders and other orders for popularity, were Babylonian.

In fact, some of the Garson investigators on capitol hill have no compunction about showing up at these affairs. The White House family, cabinet members, congressmen, army-navy officers—all seem to look upon these invitations as normal perquisites.

SOCIETY—A member of congress—even an occupant of the White House—may have lived quietly and modestly until he has won a position of prominence, prestige and influence. Thus, Harry Truman, for instance, never went out much when he was a mere senator from Missouri. Neither did Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson when he was only a congressman from Albuquerque, N. M.

The Vinsons preferred to play bridge with old friends until "Fred" was yanked out of the house to scale the social mountain ladder that eventually landed him in the highest judicial post in the land. Justices Felix Frankfurter and Frank Murphy are two of the capital's congenital diners-out, which may explain why they write so few decisions. Their names make the society pages almost every night.

HERMIT—A senator or a representative, unless he possesses unique charm or a special parlor talent, is a social nobody until he becomes chairman of a powerful committee. Then his name appears in the society columns regularly, usually as the guest of somebody seeking favors from him because he is a "big shot" in officialdom.

There may be other higher-ups who deliberately lived a hermit life to conserve their health or to avoid self-serving people, but the most notable have been the late Senators George W. Norris of Nebraska and William E. Borah of Idaho, F. H. LaGuardia of New York, Gen. George C. Marshall and Adm. Ernest J. King, our World war II commanders of the army and navy, respectively.

FAVOR—In asking James F. Pendergast's aid in defeating Rep. Roger Caldwell Slaughter, Missouri Democrat from the fifth district, President Truman was seeking a second great and personal favor from the nephew of "Old Tom" Pendergast, a national political power until he landed in prison several years ago. "Nephew Jim" gave Mr. Truman his start in politics.

The two served together in battery D, 129th field artillery, 35th division, in World war I. Mr. Truman was an exceptionally able artillery captain. His outfit consisted of young, tough, Irish kids from Kansas City, with "Jim" among them and almost as popular as Captain Truman.

Like so many soldiers of the 1917-1918 and the recent conflict, Veteran Truman had difficulty in readjusting himself to peacetime days and ways. With another battery D member, "Eddie" Jacobson, he opened a small haberdashery shop. But the post-war depression struck the shirt-and-tie business and the venture failed. Mr. Truman returned to the family farm, and at the age of 38 it seemed that a pastoral life was to be his lot.

AMBITION—But, for all his apparent modesty and simplicity, Harry Truman had ambition and confidence in himself. His liking for people led him to believe that he might be a success in politics. Looking around for an opening, he remembered "Jim" Pendergast. He looked up his World war I buddy, and asked him to say a good word for him with "Uncle Tom."

Young Pendergast told the Kansas City boss about his captain's excellent overseas record, emphasizing his popularity with the men as a possible ballot-box asset. "Old Tom," whose political crimes were even then beginning to catch up with him, needed a few respectables on his slate in 1922, and he nominated Harry Truman as a Jackson county judge at $6,000 a year.

Thus, he would not be sitting in the White House now, or trying to oust Mr. Slaughter from the other house, had it not been for "Old Tom" and "Young Jim."

VIEWS OF OTHERS

UNIFICATION ON THE SHELF

If, as now seems likely, congress adjourns without passing legislation for unification of the armed services, it has abandoned responsibility for one of the most important issues before the present session. Chairman Thomas of the senate military affairs committee says that President Truman, acting on the advice of congressional leaders, has withdrawn request for action now, but that a new unification bill will be offered when congress meets.

Unification has been before congress for months now; the country wants it, and the President wants it. The longer action is delayed, the less urgent the need for it is made to appear as war memories grow dim in memory. Now more months must pass, which could have been used in the specific planning needed to put the unification law into effect. Congress is to blame for a weakened military establishment by its dilatory tactics on this important issue.

Congress cannot continue to evade this subject. If it drops it now it must return to it later. No more hearings are necessary—all the arguments on both sides have been heard at length. The country is weary of talk. It is ready for action that will close the question once and for all, and give us an adequate and unified defense.—New York Times.

WHO'S DELINQUENT?

"Juvenile Delinquency" is quite a catch-word today, as familiar as ham and eggs or cash and carry. Adults, not youngsters, made it so of course and some of the latter don't like it.

Twin Falls juveniles have just been heard from in an open forum in which representative youngsters spoke anonymously so they could air their views freely and without fear of reprisal, parental or otherwise.

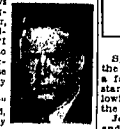

As might be expected, the older generation came off distinctly second best, and they may well squirm because the blows struck fairly home.

Among the youngsters' complaints, as applicable to any other city as Twin Falls, were that liquor is too easy for youngsters to get, lax law enforcement, trashy literature, poor schools (in some localities), failure of parents to make youngsters' homes interesting places to spend time in, failure to solve the international tension.

After all, the world didn't become the sorry mess it is today by anything the present generation of young people did.—Nampa Free Press.

PEGLER

NEW YORK—One day on old Tom Lipton's steam ark, Victoria, we followed the shooting race between his Shamrock IV and the American Resolute, Gene Fowler planted his elbows on the rail along side Lord Dewar, the Scotch distiller, and said, "I think we ought to be better acquainted because I'm a big whisky man myself."

"Eh, indeed?" the old guy said, "and what whisky do you make?"

Westbrook Pegler

"Make," Gene hollered, "Lord, lord. I don't make it. I drink it."

And I am a big railroad man, too, because I ride railroads and, thus qualified, I would like to bandy words with Robert R. Young, the chairman of the board of the Chesapeake and Ohio, who has started another of his publicity campaigns to modernize railroad practice and equipment. At that, I am almost a minor. I'm a railroad man as Young became he is no up-from-under brakeman or dispatcher but a stock holder. I hope he won't mind my saying that in the newspaper business I prefer newspapermen to rich grocers and renovated playboys who publish, and have failed at the business, railroad men to promoters and lawyers.

I have a kind of kinship of railroad executive who can ride along in his work car with a spotlight playing on the track at night and detect little things with the experience of a thief who might cause trouble. A banker's eye for that would be no smarter than mine.

Mr. Young is a pretty good propagandist because, starting last winter, he raised such a row with his newspaper ads that the lines were forced to run cars through from coast to coast for the first time in history, with the exceptions of military trains and the campaign specials of some presidential nominees.

Now he and some friends are trying to break the decision of a special court which decided that the Pullman company should be sold to a group of railroads. The department of justice, for some reason, probably political, is appealing the case to the supreme court in his interest. The new series of ads probably will be unfavorable to the supreme court and I have no reason to think that would break Mr. Young's heart, either, because he and his business associates want to buy the operating company and make a dollar.

It is a form of picketing adopted from the propaganda campaigns in favor of Harry Bridges when his deportation case was on appeal, and while a normal supreme court might be suspicious to ask noise this one might turn on something that one of those pamphlet WPA clients and precinct committeemen heard in a night club from someone like Murray Garason.

Mr. Young's first ad calls the standard Pullman sleeper a "rolling tenement" and the boy has got something there but when he seems to advocate "new lightweight streamliners" I call him outside.

I agree that the old Pullman design is archaic and that misery is built in immovable and irrevocable. There may have been an improvement on the sit-up cars when they came along in the fifties with birds and flowers painted on the doors and lace doilies under the spittons but the practice of stacking people on shelves behind curtains should have expired about 1900.

The streamliner and the lightweight car are fakes as far as the comfort and safety of the passengers are concerned. The streamliner is a fake, period, because the air resistance of a square car is so little more than that of cars with curved ends, linked together at the vestibule like sausages, that streamlining makes no appreciable difference to anyone, including the stockholders. You can't streamline the inner side of a car and that fatal defect defeats the whole idea, although the customers do like novelties and this one and the silvery exterior gave them the simple pleasure that a child gets from a red wagon.

The lightweight car is less stable at high speeds and on curves for the same reason that a little automobile can't hold the road under conditions that a big, heavy machine meets without the slightest difficulty.

A passenger doesn't care whether the railroad company saves money on fuel by substituting light materials and construction for good, heavy steel and old basic design. That is the company's worry and the economy on fuel probably can't be assessed and charted with the customer and wouldn't be worth the discomfort and extra risk if it could be.

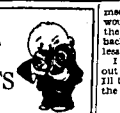

On a trip up from San Diego to Los Angeles a friend of mine said he and all the rest of the observation car were tumbled all over the place on a curve. Horrified in Los Angeles, they set up a howl and the driver said he hadn't done anything unusual and was surprised to hear what had happened.

Another train, containing both light and heavy cars, hit a curve too fast going into California from Arizona during the war and wound up in a terrible crash with a lot of passengers dead. We don't often remember to look up the ICC reports on these wrecks but I recall that in this case the story was that the engineer took the rails into the curve at normal speed for heavy equipment and slowed most of it down in back.

So agreeing with Mr. Young that most of the old Pullmans should be retired in favor of more comfortable arrangements, I hold that the mania for airplane speeds on railroads is a menace, the greater as weight is discarded and futile, anyway. And I will top Mr. Young's proposals with another of my own.

That is to retire a lot of very old men serving as engineers and train conductors and rearrange the system of promotion which holds back good railroad men until their hash marks pass their elbows and risks the lives of the people in the hand of creaking ancients who get tired and don't react as quickly as young men.

GOOD NEIGHBOR DEPT.

Dear Pot Shots:

If anyone should hear a certain tourmal hollering about the treatment she got in Twin Falls, it's not just hot air.

Seems that a lady traveler drove into a certain drive-in and asked to have her thermos bottle filled with about five cups of coffee. She then handed the gal 50 cents, expecting some change back, but instead the waitress demanded 20 cents more.

"Seventy cents," exclaimed the tourist, aghast, "for five cups of coffee!"

Then she refused to fork up the added 20 cents.

The waitress poured the coffee out (there it was—and refused to give the lady the tongue bottle.

Finally, in desperation, the lady paid the 70 cents just to get back her own thermos bottle!

We're sure she's looking forward to coming back to Twin Falls and all its nice people.

SOLVING THE SIRENS

Dear Pots:

You should have seen the reporters at the Jaycee meeting Monday night.

Sirens kept blowing during the meeting. The reporters present would jump up and dash madly for the telephone. They'd say it's some back crestfallen. This happened no less than three times.

I don't think they ever did find out what the sirens were about. So I'll tell 'em. 'Twas the sirens over at the Legion's carnival.

CASE OF THE CANVAS

Our sleuths report The Case of the Insurance Gent and His Surplus Canvas.

It appears that when that co-op cream truck overturned, insurancer Gene White rushed out to determine the damage account of because the insurance has been with his firm for quite a spell. He bought so we're advised, quite a lot of canvas wherewith to wrap the cream can cargo which had been tossed out of the truck.

Then he discovered the policy with his company had lapsed and some other outfit held the insurance.

So he ended up with a lot of canvas available for canvas dams or something.

STILL COMING IN

Dear Pot Shots:

My guess is that the "gent" in the picture is Grover Davis, sr.

Enclosed you'll find a top of a bucket carton. But what you want with it is more than I can figure out. I'm quite sure it wouldn't taste one bit like butter!

FISHING QUERY

Dear Potsy:

I would like to have seen the faces on the countless fishermen on Murtaugh lake last Sunday when the seaplane from Thousand springs air park dropped over the lake and checked with the anglers on the fishing.

I'm wondering if the expressions would show either: (1) surprise at seeing the large mosquito-looking plane on the lake; (2) fright at wondering whether it had crashed; or (3) anger at the fool pilot for spoiling the fishing.

NYLONS AGAIN

Dear Pot Shots:

I certainly do agree with the Hailstone gal on this hosiery situation.

My husband and I moved to Hagerman with our three small children on January 7 of this year.

Since then I've tried innumerable times to buy one pair of hose only to receive the same curt replies. I no longer have even a mended pair of nylons of my own but a mended pair I borrowed to wear until I do find some.

Oh yes, the three pairs for $10 (pure silk) are available to those rich dames" who care for them but they wouldn't be there either if anyone else would buy them!

I know a party who received three pairs of nylons from her favorite store for Easter without so much as asking for them.

It seems to me a cash customer should be as good as a credit customer!

—A Former Montanan

Pot Shots:

All this fuss about nylons goes on and on. I'm beginning to think there's something about nylons that IS extraordinary. Before the war I wasn't impressed and since the war you have to stand in line. If is too bad, isn't it, if you happen to be on foot and miles and miles from a town?

My hose, too, are shabby; patched and repatched. I'd give a pretty for a nice rayon pair. Nylons! I've never owned a pair in my life, and 'tain't likely I ever will—at least, until they become more plentiful. Unless—UNLESS some lady with a dozen pairs would sell me one. I'd surely like to know what they look like! Would you?

FAMOUS LAST LINE

". . . Now Father, stay off the ferris wheel—you know you can't take it! . . ."

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

BOB HOPE

Bob Hope

Well, they're calling the current card craze in Hollywood gin rummy now, since the news leaked out that some of our leading lights have been taken for boodle figures by a new crop of Cameo Kirbys.

It seems that the sharpies used to work the trans-Atlantic liners, and the suckers got wise last week when one fellow laid down a run of eight and an anchor fell out of his sleeve. Investigation showed that they were using a deck that was colder than the bottom layer of broccoli in a deep-freeze locker. The victims never did catch on although one fellow said later he thought it was funny when he noticed that the queen of spades' teeth were chattering.

But the gamblers were really brazen about the cold deck. You know some cards have bicycles on the back of them—theirs showed an eskimo igloo-bound with his dog team. And they made no secret of the fact that they were slightly crooked—in fact, when they were about to lay down their hands they didn't knock—they would toss a pretzel in the middle of the table.

One night I thought one of them was trying to trick me, so I demanded he let me count the cards—but all 62 of them were there so I knew he was all right.

CLEVELAND, July 31 (AP)—A four-fold program to raise the status of women in the world was started today by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

In a speech following her election to the presidency of the group at the close of its convention yesterday, Miss Sally Butler of Indianapolis declared:

She listed the organization's goals for the next two years as:

"Enactment of the equal rights amendment, opposition to discrimination against women, jury service for women and endorsement of qualified women for elective and appointive officers."

Matchbook Harmony

By ARLENE WOLF
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—Blending home furnishings colors will be child's play with a new matchbook decorator designed to put an end to the helter-skelter of finding rugs that look well with draperies, and upholstery that doesn't clash with wall colors.

This new pocket-size gadget is an enlarged version of an ordinary matchbook, with four tiers of colored matches representing rugs, walls, draperies and upholstery. If the shopper decides on rug color number four, a flick of the matches shows accessory colors that blend with it, all conveniently numbered and lettered according to the rug color.

Useful for both amateur decorators who are hunting room scratch as well as "replacement buyers," who are shopping for a new set of drapes to go with an already-furnished living room, the matchbook utilizes 63 different colors and 18 ready-made color schemes. In addition to showing the standard decorator exactly how her colors are going to look, the matchbook also eliminates the need for carrying around a pocketful of swatches. Instead of digging out an inch-square piece of upholstery fabric to show the draper salesman, the shopper can just turn to the colored matches that duplicate what she has in the way of upholstery and what she'd like in the way of a drapery.

The matchbook has been designed by Bigelow in the nine basic home furnishings colors selected by the Home Furnishings Style council. The council, voluntary association of some 200 manufacturers of nationally-distributed popular-priced items, has selected nine "BHF" colors and coordinated their products around them.

Practically speaking, this means that the shopper may select a wallpaper in a BHF color in one store, and proceed in another store to select an upholstery fabric in a prehar-monized shade, without worrying that the two hues will clash.

SOUTH ALL-STARS HOLD EDGE

Cowboys Surrender Game And Lead to Idaho Falls

By MAJOR HOOPLE

IDAHO FALLS, July 31—This is the jinx town to the Twin Falls Cowboys. It is here that they have won one game all season and it is here that they stuffed off another contender, the second in the series—to the Russets, this time in 10 innings, 2-1. So the first half champions will be glad to move on after this evening when Manager Carl Bolyard takes the wraps off his ace hurler, Jimmy Arnold, in an effort to salvage something from the three-contest series—if possible.

Bobby Wittig, the Cowboy southpaw, hurled good enough ball to win almost any other game. He gave up only seven hits and would have been returned the winner in regulation time but for a bit of own error. However, he was matched with Johnny Conant, who, like Arnold, has a no-hit game to his credit this season, and the sidewheeling moundsman was effective as usual—also allowing seven hits over the 10 frames.

BOB WITTIG

In losing, the Cowboys dropped into second place, a half-game behind Idaho Falls.

Rain Delays Game

The game was delayed because of the rain and high wind. There was a drizzle dropping on the field at various times during the contest.

Umpire Burns became ill in an early inning and was replaced by a player from each team.

Wittig lost his game in the very first inning. Stanton, the first batter to face the southpaw, drew four balls. Aydelotte fanned and Brickner filed to Patterson in left. Radtke singled to left, but Stanton stopped at second. Wittig then attempted to catch Stanton at second but the throw was wild, allowing Stanton to score. Heslet took the throw to the plate and whipped out Radtke trying to make second.

Powers Gets Two Hits

Dick Powers, playing right field in place of Babe Jenzen, singled to start the third inning, but the Cowboys were unable to score although a single by Bert Bonomi had sent the little outfielder to third.

The Cowboys' run, tying up the game, came in the eighth. Powers, first up singled, went to second on Leyrer's infield out and came home when the first-sacker doubled to right center.

Heslet singled starting the ninth. After Loewe filed out, Patterson beat out a bounder to McNulty, who threw high to second trying to force Heslet. However, Sheehan filed to the shortstop and Powers also lined to Aydelotte.

With one down in the 10th, Krueger doubled against the left field fence and came home when McNulty threw the ball for two bases into almost the same spot.

11-Year-Old Golfer Turns in Hole-In-One at Clear Lakes

BUHL, July 31—The youngest golfer in the history of Idaho sport to make a hole-in-one turned up in Charlie Manning, 11-year-old son of Buhl's popular Ed Manning, yesterday.

Playing with his father and uncle, Gus Averett, sixth-grader Charlie made the 140-yard No. 3 three-par hole at the beautiful and sporty Clear Lakes course in one stroke. He used a No. 3 iron.

The hole is an extremely tricky one and is seldom made in a par figure.

The elder Manning and Averett had just been congratulating themselves on making the hole in par when the youngster made the hole-in-one.

The boy is playing his first year of golf.

Twin Falls Draws Bye In State Legion Event

BOISE, July 31 (AP)—Lewiston will face Boise and the winner will take on Twin Falls in a twin-bill which will open the Idaho American Legion junior baseball tournament at Lewiston Friday night. Gov. Arnold Williams drew the ballots last night which gave Twin Falls a bye and set the opening game of the state playoff.

Fifteen Twin Falls players, accompanied by Coach Eddie Purves, Walt Day, chairman of the local post's baseball committee, and Howard Burkhart, will leave at 7 a. m. Thursday in a chartered bus for Lewiston, where they will oppose the Boise and Lewiston teams in the Idaho American Legion junior baseball tournament Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Doug Bean, the Legion's athletic officer, announced last night.

The local team's chances in the tournament became somewhat gloomy when it was announced that southpaw Bobby Long, the Dawns' star hurler, had cut his left hand while at work yesterday. The cut is on the palm and it is believed he will be able to pitch.

However, the spirits of the lads were high. They let out a whoop of joy when Coach Purves told them at practice Monday evening that the series would be played in Lewiston, instead of in Twin Falls. They had wanted to make the trip.

"We play better away from home," said slender Dave Gray, star outfielder of two Legion campaigns.

LEWISTON CONFIDENT

LEWISTON, July 31 (AP)—Harvie Walker the coach of the Lewiston American legion junior baseball team who smokes cigars almost as big and brown as his arms, last night figured this week-ends state championship playoff among Boise, Lewiston and Twin Falls this way:

(1) "Lewiston and Boise will meet in the final game. Twin Falls will fall by the wayside early.

(2) "Twin Falls, the self-styled metropolis of the state that last night said Lewiston would not be 'used to playing in a big city,' never has ceased being a whistle stop.

(3) "Lewiston never had any intentions of defaulting on the tournament, originally scheduled for Twin Falls. It was only a straight business deal. Twin Falls was unable to post enough money to guarantee expenses, and the site of the playoff was switched to a town where fans support their baseball team."

J. R. GEORGE F. REDMOND

If the story that Jack Braddy of Twin Falls tells is true, Satchel Paige, the celebrated Negro pitcher, is the world's most astonishing athlete. He claims that Paige must be around 58 years of age and it wasn't only a few years ago that the world was acclaiming him the greatest moundsman in Negro baseball, if not in all baseball.

Here's Braddy's story as told to Mr. Pot Shots of the editorial page, where, it seems, all good and unusual things always come to light.

The Twin Falls man says that 50 years ago last Saturday he and another lad crawled through the fence at Downs, Kan., to see a game between Downs and Emporia, Kan., teams—a feature of anniversary day of the former city.

And playing shortstop for Emporia was Satchel.

"He must have been 28 years of age at the time," said Mr. Braddy, "I was 15 and I know he was a lot older than I was at the time."

Ye Olde Sport Scribe never saw Satchel on many occasions and it always seemed to YOSS that he was much older than advertised. Age was in his walk if not in his arm.

But it was only a few years ago that he was barnstorming throughout the country and he was pitching every night and this fact always bloated out of this ancient word peddler's mind any thought that Paige was far too old for baseball.

Mr. Braddy visited the famed hurler on the bench when he last saw Twin Falls—in 1938. He was to have appeared here two years ago but failed to show—having been called to Chicago for the east-west Negro all-star game.

AND THAT'S THAT FOR NOW, except: Seven softball games will be going on at the one time in Harmon during the invitational tournament Saturday and Sunday.

2 of 3 North's .300 Batsmen Are Cowboys

POCATELLO, July 31 (AP)—A comparison of the records of players of north and south teams for the annual Pioneer league all-star contests tomorrow and Friday nights indicates that on the basis of performance in regular games so far this season, the southern aggregation has the advantage in both pitching and batting.

The teams play here tomorrow night in a benefit for survivors of members of the Spokane Indians flood killed in a bus crash earlier in the summer. They meet again Friday night at Salt Lake City in a Red Cross benefit.

Batting averages, based on games through last Friday night, last day for which statistics are available, give the southern club a team average of .312 compared to .297 for the northerners.

Pitchers' Records

Won and lost records of pitchers nominated by fans for play in the two contests through Monday night also give the southerners the edge with 72 wins to 32 defeats for an average of 12 wins and 5 losses or .692 in figures. The northern pitching staff has won 64 games and lost 40 for an average of 10 wins and 6 losses, or .615.

Backed right up against these figures, however, is the record of past all-star games, which shows the south trailing far behind the north. Over the years since the league was organized, the north has won four games to a single victory for the south.

Against the seeming superiority of the southern batting averages is lined up the home run hitting propensity of Harry Heslet, Twin Falls catcher, who has 21 circuit blows to his credit.

South's Home Run Hitters

On the southern side, Frank Pawlick, Ogden; Charlie Henson, Salt Lake City and George Schmees, Ogden, have hit six each and Bob Chenes, Boe pitcher, has three to his credit. Henson also leads in runs batted in with 92.

The south's heavy hitters include eight sluggers who have batting averages of .300; Bob Hemus, topping the league with .371; Chesmes, Schmees, Henson, Charlie Rotzell, Pocatello; Bill Leonard, Salt Lake City; Pawlick and Vern Paredes, Pocatello.

In the north lineup, in contrast, will be only three hitters with a .300 mark or better—Heslet, Neil Gwyn, Boise, and Hal Loewe, Twin Falls.

Cubans Thrill 1,500 Fans at Legion Game

While a crowd of 1,500 was tickled by the antics of a red-clad baseball clown, El Hamman, last night, the Cuban all-star La Palomas blanked the Chicago Brown Bombers, 8-0, in Twin Falls Jaycee park.

Southpaw Bill Odom threw his nothing ball so often that only two Bombers could make hits out of it. He whiffed 11 of the Negro aces.

Comic peak of the evening came when the Bombers' clown pinured a sign reading "save used flats" to the seat of the umpire's trousers.

In the seventh inning, the showy Bombers took time out to amuse the audience with an exhibition of shadow-baseball — no bats, no balls, no nothing. A pepperball game was played at the start.

The game was staged for the benefit of the Legion's athletic fund.

Work Begun on 8 More Vet Houses

Work was begun Wednesday on the foundation for eight additional housing units at Washington courts, U. N. Terry, former American Legion commander and a member of housing committee, announced.

Receipts have been received for the eight units and they are expected to arrive soon from Vancouver, Wash., Terry said.

Seven of the apartments probably will be ready for occupancy Saturday, he added.

With the arrival of the new units, a total of 38 apartments and 42 trailers will be available for temporary housing for veterans.

Terry also announced that the Legion, with the cooperation of the Twin Falls postoffice, is attempting to get city mail delivery service to the housing units. A wire was sent to Rep. Henry C. Dworshak Tuesday afternoon for assistance in securing permission from the post-office department.

Henry Schwab was fined $100 and assessed $3 costs when he appeared in municipal court Wednesday to change his plea to "guilty" on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Judge J. O. Pumphrey will report the violation to the state department of law enforcement and recommend forfeiture of Schwab's liquor permit and driver's license.

Free Breakfast To Open Chamber Funds Campaign

A free kickoff breakfast on Aug. 19 will launch a personal contact drive for Chamber of Commerce subscriptions. It was decided at a meeting of the membership committee Wednesday morning.

The second mail drive will get underway Thursday morning when letters will again be sent to Twin Falls merchants seeking membership dues and activity fund subscriptions, James A. Spriggs, managing secretary, said.

Already $6,322.25 has been subscribed and 124 members have renewed their membership, he said. A goal of $19,500 has been budgeted, with $10,000 slated for Twin Falls promotion and publicity including $3,000 for the Merchants' bureau. An additional $9,500 is sought for local operating expenses, Spriggs said.

Twelve team captains will be named and each captain will get six workers to solicit assigned areas in the city for subscriptions. When each area has been covered the team captains will report to R. J. Schwendiman, membership chairman.

"We hope to clean up the personal contact drive in two or three days," Spriggs said.

Members of the membership committee are Schwendiman, J. E. White, A. H. Timmons, Frank L. Cook, Fred Ingraham and Ralph Bacon.

STRANDED

A 15-year-old Colorado girl, Almeda Russell, was unintentionally stranded in Twin Falls for a short time Tuesday evening when her parents drove away without her.

It happened when the Russells of Grand Junction stopped at a service station while their daughter was asleep in the back seat. They left the car momentarily, and the girl awoke and decided to go for a walk. Returning, they drove away and did not notice that she was missing until they had left Twin Falls.

Retracing their route, they returned and picked up the girl, who in the meantime had notified Twin Falls police of her predicament.

The domesticated cat was an object of veneration among the Egyptians.

Gale Damages Pea Crop and Uproots Trees

and Filer sections experienced much lightning damage to lines; while that in Twin Falls and vicinity was caused by the wind.

Lightning Wipes Out Herd

An entire herd of milk cows valued at $1,200 on the Roy Clcle ranch north of Buhl died at 4 p. m. when struck by lightning. They consisted of five high-grade Guernseys and Jerseys and two heifer calves. They were killed when a bolt struck a poplar tree, scattering bark for 30 feet. Two saddle horses and two heifer calves in the same pasture escaped unharmed.

Most crops escaped serious damage except for peas, which had been cut and piled ready for the combine or thresher. At some points the peas were blown "clear out of the fields," and farmers estimated that the loss would run between 25 and 30 per cent. Wheat, barley, oat and bean crops were at a stage where damage was light.

Power for Mountain City and Jarbidge, Nev., was cut off when lightning struck a 66,000-volt high tension line, according to Idaho Power company officials at the Thousand Springs plant.

Telephone officials in the Twin Falls, Jerome, Wendell and Gooding areas reported trees uprooted by the storm had severed telephone lines and hampered service in their area.

Heat Wave Broken

The heat wave here appeared to be temporarily broken following a high of 94 during the day. It was 63 at 5 p. m., when the storm had passed. Precipitation was rated .01 of an inch, and weather observers reported an official velocity of 48 miles per hour.

"It was blowing harder than 48 miles per hour at times at the Twin Falls airport," said Charles Reeder, manager. He reported gusts had carried away the wind sock from the field, but no other damage was sighted.

Weather men said that usual wind in a storm for this area was 35 miles per hour, and that 48 was excessive.

Tree Delays Bus

J. D. Sturma, director of the Twin Falls highway district, said no trees had been reported as blocking roads in this area, but a Union Pacific stage was slightly delayed near Hagerman on U S highway 30.

The driver of the eastbound bus found his path blocked by a fallen tree. He secured the assistance of highway workers at Hagerman and the obstacle was removed.

Ralph W. Carpenter, division manager of the Idaho Power company, termed the storm "very severe, accompanied by heavy winds and rains, which tipped over many trees, particularly in the rural areas."

"Power service in the Castleford area was cut off, but restored by night," said Carpenter.

Power Lines Hit

Olin Smith, Buhl manager of the power company, reported lightning struck the high line to Jarbidge, which affected service in the Nevada communities, Castleford and Deep Creek.

The Northview district near Buhl was cut off from power when a big tree was uprooted at the Bonar corner northeast of Buhl.

Buhl telephone service was reported "cleared up" by 8 p. m., following the uprooting of a tree on the Bob Maxwell farm three and one-half miles northeast of Buhl. It knocked down four telephone poles in its fall to hamper communications.

The three poplars that blew over on Henry Crow's house west of Twin Falls and the one that toppled across his driveway were typical of wind-wrought mishaps around Twin Falls.

An eye-witness declared that "three or four bricks knocked out of the chimney" and a down power line were the only damages to Crow's residence, three miles west of here on U S highway 30.

Rain Slows Fire

Rain in the afternoon slowed a fire in the evening that started in sawdust beneath a small planing mill in a lean-to about 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at 400 Locust street south, Twin Falls.

Firemen found the roof of the shack blazing and the sawdust underfoot afire, but quelled the flames in about five minutes, they reported.

A couple of V-belts burned off the mill but nothing else was materially damaged, firemen declared.

BLAZE AT GOODING

GOODING, July 31—All electric power was off for more than an hour here yesterday. An electric light pole caught on fire, trees fell across electric wires, line-crews worked far into the night and some stands of corn were battered in the storm about 4 p. m. today here.

The pole was fired about four miles east of Gooding, apparently by lightning.

S. L. Sullivan, Idaho Power manager, worked until early today with his trouble crews.

Harvey G. Green, manager of the telephone company here, declared that the Gooding airport line was still not functioning at a late hour tonight and considerable damage was done to line by falling trees, especially in the Hagerman area.

Wire-repairmen were still out working on broken circuits Wednesday, Green declared.

Another Amber

Dark-haired Linda Darnell, above, has replaced British screen star Peggy Cummins in the coveted name-role of the film version of "Forever Amber." Thirty-nine days' filming, costing $350,000, was scrapped to effect the switch.

Reds Release Two Officers Of U. S. Army

BERLIN, July 31 (UP)—Two American officers released by the red army during the night after a 26-day disappearance in the Soviet zone said they had been held as hostages at Potsdam by the Russians and charged with being spies.

The two officers, Capt. Harold Cobin of Newark, N. J., and Lieut. George Wyatt of Oklahoma City, told the story of their disappearance to a press conference 12 hours after their release.

Cobin and Wyatt were turned over to the American provost marshal shortly before midnight in Russian headquarters. They had been missing since July 4. Both were well shaved when released, but appeared tired and disheveled.

The two American officers said they were arrested by the Russians at Oranienburg after failing in an attempt to enter the Sachsenhausen concentration camp.

Cobin and Wyatt said they peeked through a crack in the Russian army truck which was their "patrol wagon" and knew immediately that they were being taken to Potsdam. They said they were confined in a house at Potsdam and were not allowed to see each other.

Both said they were well-treated and that the food was adequate, but unappetizing.

Bomb Results Classified As Atomic Laws

By FRANK H. BARTHOLOMEW

OFF BIKINI ATOLL, July 31 (U.P.) The Bikini bombs, dissimilar as they were in many ways, had certain common results which now may be classified as atomic law.

The first is the quick diminishing of effect proportionate to distance from the point of detonation. Results are savage for a wide radius, but almost puny on the outskirts compared to what goes on at the bomb burst itself.

Heat, which scientists insist is 100,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit at the blast, cools off unbelievably within 1,000 feet.

Thermometers on ships that far from the blast registered only 125 degrees maximum while animals aboard them were not scorched. Winds of 1,000 miles an hour velocity died out in proportion. Waves expected to measure 100 feet in height at the vortex of the baker blast had diminished to seven-foot breakers at Bikini island three and a half miles away.

Another point proved by all five bombs that have been dropped is that there are no duds.

These are the physical characteristics of atomic bombs as they were revealed through the series of detonations at New Mexico, Japan and Bikini.

Exams Extended

Director of the 11th civil service region, James P. Cooley, has announced that the closing date for the receipt of applications for the first post-war examination for post-office clerk and carrier will be extended to Aug. 8.

This is the first examination for a permanent position of this type since 1936, according to Herman Rexrost, local civil service secretary.

Building Lack Blamed on OPA By Dworshak

WASHINGTON, July 31 (U.P.)—Delays in construction of hospitals and homes for veterans were blamed on OPA today by Rep. Dworshak, R., Ida.

Dworshak said in a house speech that the veterans administration had been forced to double its requests for appropriations to carry out its hospital programs because of the increase in costs during the past three years.

Board Interprets Farm Draft Law

Contrary to rumor, farmers are definitely not automatically exempted from induction by the oft-misconstrued Tydings amendment, stated Joe L. Roberts, clerk of Twin Falls county selective service board No. 1, Tuesday.

Briefly, the amendment, which became law Nov. 13, 1942, says only that agricultural workers engaged in farming essential to the war effort shall be deferred so long as they stay with their jobs or until satisfactory replacements can be obtained.

Roberts emphasized that whether the man can be satisfactorily replaced or not is up to the decision of the local draft board.

Killed by the senate recently was the house amendment providing for the exemption of farmers, regardless of whether their crops were essential or whether a replacement was available.

This move was blocked before congress on June 29, 1946, finally approved extension of the draft to March 31, 1947.

Bickel Group Intervenes in Merger Issue

Four residents of Bickel common school district No. 40, were permitted Tuesday to intervene in the civil suit of James L. Barnes against the Twin Falls county commissioners, involving the proposed division of the Bickel district between independent school districts No. 7, Hansen, and No. 8, Murtaugh.

They were Charles Bailey, B. L. Stastny, Franklin Sharp and D. T. Wright, proponents of the division, who aligned themselves with the defendants in the case, following a session before District Judge James W. Porter.

The four men, appearing with their attorney, James R. Bothwell, immediately filed an answer in intervention to the plaintiff's notice of appeal, stating that "full and complete compliance with all statutory requirements" had been made by the commissioners and Doris Stradley, county superintendent of public instruction, in arranging an election on the issue.

An election on the division set for May 10, 1946, was indefinitely postponed by a district court order when Barnes commenced his action.

Barnes' attorneys are R. P. Parry, J. R. Keenan, T. M. Robertson and John H. Daly. The latter represented Barnes; Everett M. Sweeley, county attorney, the defendants, and Bothwell, the co-defendants, in court Tuesday.
